

Dear [Homeowner Name],

As the owner of [Property Address], you are the steward of a unique piece of history. Antique homes offer a level of craftsmanship and character that modern builds simply cannot replicate. However, selling a historic property requires a specialized approach to ensure you capture its full market potential.

To achieve the highest possible return on your investment, I focus on three key pillars for antique home sales:

- Narrative Marketing: We don't just list features; we tell the story of your home's heritage to attract buyers who value historic preservation.
- Specialized Valuation: Antique homes require a nuanced understanding of period details, restoration quality, and architectural significance that standard appraisals often overlook.
- Targeted Exposure: Your home will be showcased to a curated network of historical societies, restoration enthusiasts, and high-net-worth collectors.

If you have ever wondered how your home's unique history translates to today's market value, I would welcome the opportunity to provide a complimentary Heritage Market Analysis.

I am available this week for a brief conversation at your convenience.

Best regards,
