Dear Neighbor,

We are writing to you because we are a multi-generational family looking for a new home in your neighborhood. Our family includes [Number] generations: [Names/Roles, e.g., my parents, my spouse, and our children].

We have lived in [Current Area] for [Number] years, but we are now searching for a property that offers the space and layout needed to keep our family together under one roof. We specifically love your street because of [Reason: the quiet atmosphere, the proximity to the park, the mature trees, etc.].

Because multi-generational homes require specific features-such as [Feature 1: a ground-floor suite], [Feature 2: multiple living areas], or [Feature 3: a large backyard]-it has been challenging to find the right fit through traditional listings. We wanted to reach out directly to see if you, or anyone you know, might be considering selling your home in the near future.

We are not a developer or an investment company; we are a family looking for a long-term residence where we can support one another. We are pre-approved and flexible regarding closing dates to make the transition as smooth as possible for you.

If you have any interest in discussing a private sale, please feel free to call or text us at [Phone Number] or email us at [Email Address].

Thank you for your time and for considering our family.

Best regards,

[Your Names]
