Information for Future Homebuyers

The fall season is a unique time for the local real estate market. If you are looking to purchase a home in the area, keep these points in mind:

- Inventory Update: Several charming properties near the fairgrounds have recently hit the market, offering great walkability.
- Seasonal Insight: Viewing homes in the fall allows you to see the landscaping and heating efficiency before winter arrives.
- Local Expertise: I will be hosting an informational booth at the fair. Stop by to grab a printed list of available listings and a map of the neighborhood.

I hope to see you at the fair enjoying a warm cider and celebrating everything that makes our town special. If you have any questions about upcoming community events or the local housing market, please feel free to reach out.

Warm regards,
