Subject: Professional Real Estate Support for Your Divorce Cases

Dear [Attorney Name],

I am writing to introduce myself as a real estate professional specializing in marital property dissolution and asset resolution. I understand that many of your cases involve the complex task of valuing or liquidating residential real estate during a divorce.

My goal is to provide a neutral, objective, and efficient resource for your clients to ensure the real estate component of their settlement is handled with minimal conflict. I offer the following services tailored for legal professionals:

- Complimentary Comprehensive Market Analyses (CMA) for settlement negotiations.
- Court-mandated sale management with frequent status reporting.
- Property preparation and vendor coordination to maximize equity.
- Neutral communication between parties to reduce legal friction.

I value the work you do and would appreciate the opportunity to be your go-to resource when a case requires a real estate expert who understands the nuances of family law proceedings.

I have enclosed my professional credentials for your records. I will follow up with your office next week to see if we can schedule a brief introductory meeting.

Sincerely,
