Dear [Client Name],

Congratulations once again on becoming a homeowner! Being the first in your family to own a home is a monumental achievement, and it was a true honor to guide you through this journey.

Now that you have the keys, my goal is to ensure that others in your community or family who dream of homeownership have the same opportunity. Many people feel that owning a home is out of reach, but with the right guidance, it is possible.

If you know anyone-friends, family members, or colleagues-who is thinking about buying their first home, I would love to help them. You can simply share my contact information with them or introduce us via email or text.

I am committed to providing them with the same dedicated service and education that I provided to you.

Thank you for trusting me with your business. I look forward to staying in touch and seeing you settle into your new home.

Warmly,
