

Dear [Client Name],

After another busy weekend of touring homes, I wanted to reach out and check in with you. I know that the search process can feel exhausting, especially when you don't find "the one" right away or face stiff competition.

Please remember that feeling "burnt out" is a completely normal part of the journey. Finding the right home is a marathon, not a sprint. We are learning more about your specific needs with every property we visit, which actually brings us one step closer to the right door.

Here is our plan moving forward:

- Take a breather: If you need to skip next weekend to recharge, just let me know.
- Refine the search: We can adjust our filters based on what you liked or disliked this week.
- Stay prepared: I am still monitoring new listings and off-market opportunities daily.

You have a great vision for your future home, and I am committed to helping you find it without compromising your peace of mind. Let's connect later this week to chat about our next steps whenever you feel ready.

Best regards,
