RE: Urgent Follow-up Required - Pap Test Results

Dear [Patient Name],

We are writing to inform you of the results of your recent Pap test performed on [Date].

The results show Severe Dysplasia (HSIL - High-grade Squamous Intraepithelial Lesion). This means that there are significant precancerous changes in the cells of your cervix. While this is not a diagnosis of cancer, these cells are unlikely to go away on their own and require immediate medical intervention to prevent them from developing into cancer.

Required Action:

It is essential that you schedule a Colposcopy and/or LEEP procedure as soon as possible. During this procedure, the doctor will closely examine the cervix and may remove the affected tissue for further testing and treatment.

Please call our office at [Phone Number] immediately to schedule this appointment. If you have already scheduled this follow-up, please disregard this letter.

If you have any questions regarding these results, our clinical staff is available to discuss them with you.

Sincerely,

[Provider Name/Signature]
