RE: Early Detection Pregnancy Blood Test Results

Dear [Patient Name],

The results of your Beta-hCG (Human Chorionic Gonadotropin) blood test performed on [Date of Test] are now available.

Test Result: [Positive / Negative]

HCG Level: [Value] mIU/mL

Interpretation:

- A level below 5 mIU/mL is generally considered negative for pregnancy.
- A level above 25 mIU/mL is generally considered positive for pregnancy.
- Levels between 5 and 25 mIU/mL may require a follow-up test in 48-72 hours to confirm the trend.

Next Steps:

[If Positive: Please contact our office at your earliest convenience to schedule your initial prenatal appointment and discuss your health plan.]

[If Negative/Inconclusive: If your menstrual cycle does not begin within seven days, or if you have concerns regarding your symptoms, please contact us for a follow-up consultation.]

If you have any questions regarding these results, please contact our nursing staff at [Phone Number].

Sincerely,
