Re: Maternal Serum Screening Results

Dear [Patient Name],

We are writing to provide you with the results of your recent maternal serum screening (AFP/Quad Screen) performed on [Date of Blood Draw].

Result Summary: [Screen Negative / Screen Positive]

Interpretation:

Your results indicate a [low / increased] risk for certain chromosomal conditions, such as Down syndrome (Trisomy 21) and Edwards syndrome (Trisomy 18), as well as neural tube defects like spina bifida.

[If Screen Negative]: A "Screen Negative" result means that the levels measured in your blood fall within the expected range, and there is a low probability for these conditions. Please note that this is a screening test and not a diagnostic test; it does not rule out all possibilities of birth defects.

[If Screen Positive]: A "Screen Positive" result does not mean your baby has a medical condition. It means that further testing or a detailed ultrasound is recommended to more closely evaluate the pregnancy. Our office will contact you to schedule a follow-up consultation and discuss your options.

Your specific values are as follows:

AFP: [Value]
hCG: [Value]
uE3: [Value]
Inhibin-A: [Value]

We will discuss these results in further detail at your next prenatal appointment on [Date of Next Appointment]. If you have immediate questions, please call our office at [Phone Number].

Sincerely,
