Subject: Important Update Regarding Your Employment Practices Liability (EPLI) Coverage

Dear [Client Name],

As your dedicated professional liability partner, we regularly review your risk profile to ensure your firm is fully protected. While your current professional liability policy covers your services, it typically does not extend to claims arising from employment-related disputes.

In today's legal environment, businesses face an increasing number of allegations related to:

- Wrongful termination
- Discrimination (age, sex, race, disability, etc.)
- Sexual harassment
- Retaliation
- Workplace deprivation of opportunity

Employment Practices Liability Insurance (EPLI) is designed to protect your firm against the significant costs of defending these claims and any resulting settlements or judgments. Even if an allegation is groundless, the legal fees to defend your firm can be substantial.

We have prepared an exclusive quote for your review based on your current firm profile. Please find the attached summary of coverage options and premium rates.

To bind coverage or to discuss how this protection integrates with your existing professional liability policy, please contact us at [Phone Number] or [Email Address].

We value your continued trust in our services.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]
