Re: Post-Divorce Estate Planning Update

Dear [Client Name],

Now that your divorce proceedings have concluded, it is important to review and update your estate planning documents. Your previous will, powers of attorney, and beneficiary designations may no longer reflect your current wishes or legal status.

Because my practice focuses on family law, I recommend that you consult with a specialist in estate planning to ensure your assets are protected and your legacy is handled according to your new circumstances. Specifically, you should consider updating the following:

- Last Will and Testament
- Revocable or Irrevocable Trusts
- Durable Power of Attorney
- Healthcare Proxy / Living Will
- Beneficiary designations on Life Insurance and Retirement Accounts

I highly recommend contacting the following attorney who specializes in this field:
